Smaller Nations Ask Non-Voting Voice In Peace Parley

Mexicans - Cubans Cite War Records As Justification

Mexico Recalls Huge Exports Of Materials And Thousands Of War Workers

DEBATE ADMISSION OF SMALLER NATIONS

Cuba Signed Original Declaration Of United Nations—Produced War Goods

PARIS, Aug. 12.—(INS)—Representatives of several smaller nations—excluded from voting memberships in the peace conference—declared today they considered themselves entitled at least to non-voting voices because of their material contributions to the war effort.

A Mexican delegation headed by Alfonso de Rosenzweig Diaz entered Luxembourg palace to head debate over admission of Albania, Mexico, Cuba, Egypt, Iran and similar nations.

Four Reasons
Mexico gave four reasons supporting its application to be heard: 1. Mexico did not refuse to send military forces but the great powers more urgently needed raw materials and labor.

2. Mexico's cooperation—exporting over two million tons of ore and sending 300 thousand workers to the U.S.—placed her in the front rank of Latin-American nations.

3. Fifteen thousand Mexicans fought with U. S. forces, suffering many casualties.

4. Mexico's moral and political support contributed toward uniting the continent for war.

Mexico also asked for the right to present a bill for damages to its merchant fleet.

Cubans explained they sought admission because Cuba signed the original declaration of the United Nations, produced war materials, established patrols against U-boats in the Gulf of Mexico and Caribbean sea, sacrificed most of its merchant fleet with thousands of lives and sent many nationals to fight with Allied armies.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Aug. 12.—(INS)—Ranking investigators from the Army Air Forces today were probing the crash of two Army attack bombers near the crowded North Montana air grounds which cost the lives of seven persons.

Maj. Gen. Junius W. Jones declared he had been sent to the scene by Commanding General Carl Spaatz, who "is greatly concerned over the loss of life." Air Judge Advocate Col. Desmond O'Keefe accompanied the air inspector.

Army officials said positive identification of the military dead was not complete but that crew lists previously announced were believed to be accurate.

Postpone Strike Of Soup Canners

Canners Demand Union Shop—Huge Tomato Crop At Stake In Controversy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(INS)—A 24-hour postponement in the threatened strike of 9,000 employees of Campbell Soup Company's Camden, N. J., plant, scheduled for 5 a. m., was obtained today about two and a half hours before the deadline.

Conciliation Commissioner P. J. Mahoney obtained the postponement after an extraordinary night and early morning session with union and company negotiators.

Negotiations with the company and the union—the food, tobacco and agriculture workers—will be resumed at 11:30 a. m. The union is demanding a union shop.

Union officials said however that strike scheduled originally for this morning would go into effect at 5 a. m. EDT tomorrow if negotiations between the company and the FTA at Washington were unsuccessful.

At stake in the dispute between Campbell's and the union over the closed-shop issue is a $5 million tomato crop—and the fortunes of hundreds of farmers in New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Pennsylvania.

Strike Brings Bread Rationing In Philly Area

One Million Loaves Slashed From Normal Production As Bakers Leave Jobs

HOMES-HOSPITALS BADLY HANDICAPPED

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 12.—(INS)—Food dealers in the Metropolitan Philadelphia area began informal rationing of bread today as a strike at eight major baking companies slashed one million loaves from normal production.

H. J. Colwell Jr., regional director for the U. S. Conciliation Service, said the Department of Labor would act to bring about negotiations between the bakers and the AFL Bakers and Confectioners Union.

Only half a million loaves of bread were being turned out daily by non-striking firms, an average of one loaf for every eight persons among the 4,000,000 people living in the affected area.

20-Cent Boost
The strike, called Saturday night, was to enforce the union's demand for a general 20-cent hourly wage increase. Some 1850 workers were involved in the walkout.

A spokesman for the Philadelphia Hospital Association said that most of the 68 hospitals in the area would be seriously handicapped if the strike continues. Restaurants and most hotels, however, do their own baking.

The companies against whom the strike is directed are Freihofer, General, Fleischmann, Parkway and Mees in Philadelphia, and Spaulding, Stroehman Brothers and Continental in Norristown.

Decontrol Board Opens Hearings

Hear Arguments Today Upon Question Of Restoring Price Ceilings On Grain

By WILLIAM UNSTEAD (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(INS)—Twenty farm, industry labor and consumer groups testify before the price decontrol board today as public hearings open to determine whether price controls should remain off such basic foods as meat, milk and grains.

The board hears arguments today for and against the restoration of price ceilings on grains. It will discuss livestock tomorrow, soybeans and cottonseed Wednesday, and milk and dairy products Thursday.

Must All Loan
These commodities, which comprise 60 percent of all foodstuffs, automatically go back under price control on Aug. 21 unless the decontrol board acts by Aug. 20 to keep them decontrolled.

Edward O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, appears as the first witness at today's session. As spokesman for the farm organization, he has been allowed 30 minutes in which to present his case.

O'Neal plans to advocate the continued decontrol of all five commodities as he did at congressional hearings on price control.

Asks Brief Testimony

The Farm Bureau head takes the stand after Chairman Roy L. Thompson reads a statement from the board to officially open the hearings. Thompson probably will stress the impartial status of the board and ask the witnesses to present their views briefly.

Conference Asks Smaller Nations To State Views

Evatt Of Australia Es-pouses Cause Of Small Nations To Attend Parley

PARIS, Aug. 12.—(INS)—The peace conference today invited Albania, Mexico, Egypt and Cuba to state their views on draft treaties now pending before the 21 voting members.

The Soviet Union lost an attempt to admit Albania alone and exclude Mexico, Egypt and Cuba.

The vote to invite Albania was passed unanimously. However, Russia, Poland and Byelorussia voted against admittance of the other three powers. The other three Soviet satellites—Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and the Ukraine—abstained from the second balloting.

The conference did not act on requests by Austria and Iran for admission.

Pushing the pace of the conference along, Byrnes suggested that the commissions concerned with preparing the Italian treaty convene tonight to organize themselves for work.

Next Byrnes called for establishment of an agenda for the conference.

As Yugoslavia and Australia clashed on procedure of the agenda, Byrnes called a halt for the morning and summoned the conference to reconvene at 4 o'clock, Paris time, this afternoon.

Gas Strike Has London Crippled

LONDON, Aug. 12.—(INS)—The gas strike in London forced inhabitants onto a cold diet today, eliminated the Monday washing for lack of hot water, and will probably black-out gas-lit streets tonight.

Service has been reduced over an area of 500 square miles north of the Thames river.

Hospitals, too, suffered from reduced pressure and had no hot water.

The ministry of labor has intervened in an attempt to settle the walkout.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 12.—(INS)—The department of public assistance reported today that revised reports disclosing a net increase of 2,858 relief recipients during July had boosted the overall load to 262,886 persons.

The increase was spread over the aid to dependent children, old age assistance and blind pension rolls, it was added. A decrease of 486 recipients of general assistance served to reduce the increase.

At the close of July, the department announced, there were 39,854 persons on the general assistance rolls, 89,376 recipients of old age assistance, 117,408 persons receiving aid to dependent children and 13,390 blind pensioners.

Total expenditures approximated $6,000,000, it was reported.

Washington Eyes Wisconsin Verdict On Bob LaFollette

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(INS)—All political factions in Washington area waited today for Wisconsin's verdict Tuesday in the bid of Sen. Robert M. LaFollette, Jr. for the Republican senatorial nomination.

The battle between LaFollette and Judge Joseph R. McCarthy, choice of the regular GOP organization, is so close the outcome is in doubt. It may well be that Wisconsin Republicans will reject "Young Bob" and end the LaFollette dynasty that has dominated that state for 45 years.

LaFollette is making a determined battle to stay in the Senate, after abandoning the progressive party and re-entering the GOP ranks that he repudiated a decade ago.

He has received many endorsements and outstanding one from Sen. Robert A. Taft, of Ohio.

Curiously enough, national Democrats have endorsed his GOP ambitions too, but Wisconsin Democrats are fighting him. Weekend advertisements by Democratic candidates assailed LaFollette.

The outcome is being watched in Washington to determine whether Wisconsin favors a more conservative course in national affairs by supporting one LaFollette or another since 1901.

ESCAPES UNHURT AS P-80 CRASHES

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 12.—(INS)—Lieut. Roy Cooper, an Army Air Forces pilot, was alive and in good physical condition today after a crash landing in a P-80 Shooting Star at Billy Mitchell airfield in Milwaukee.

The plane landed at 120 miles an hour, bounced on the runway and skidded 500 feet yesterday following an accident on the take-off at an air show.

Lieutenant Cooper walked away from the wreckage, uninjured.

'Russian Poker' Fatal To Seaman

COATESVILLE, Pa., Aug. 12.—(INS)—John D. Baldwin, 19-year-old merchant seaman was dead today—a victim of the grim game of "Russian poker."

Baldwin sat on the steps of his grandmother's home in Warwick township holding a 32-caliber revolver. There was one bullet in the chamber.

The seaman spun the cylinder twice. Then Baldwin pressed the gun against his temple and pulled the trigger. He died instantly.

Bert Wolfe, 18, of New York, and Herbert Johnson, 20, of Brooklyn, cousins of Baldwin, told Coroner Fred B. Manship about the "game." Manship called the shooting accidental.

UE Members Want 'Commies' Purged From Union Ranks

Rump Session Of Electrical Workers In Pittsburgh Would Oust Reds From Union

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 12.—(INS)—A strong movement was underway today among the rank and file members of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America (UERMWA) to purge the so-called Communist elements from their union.

Holding a two-day "rump" conference in Pittsburgh, a strong faction, representing the "UE Members for Democratic Action," declared they would appeal to fellow-members to oust all union officers with "communist leanings" when the UERMWA holds its national convention in Milwaukee, September 5 through 10.

No Middle Road
The anti-left wing group declared "there is no middle road," and that delegates to the national convention must make one of two choices:

"1. Either return the UE to ranks of respectable CIO unions with sound objectives, or

"2. Allow the UE to hurry along to its own destruction as a front for the American Communist party and its program."

Harry Block, the UE International vice president from Philadelphia, presided over the meetings which, he said, was attended by delegates from 10 of the 11 districts in the nation. James Click, the union's secretary from St. Louis, maintained the 11 district (California) has no organization and no delegates.

Marshall Gloomy In China Outlook; Civil War Looms

Ambassador Stuart Joins In General Marshall's View Of Possibilities

Admiral Cooke Says No Immediate Plans For Withdrawal Of U. S. Marines

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(INS)—An early announcement restating United States policy toward China was freely predicted today following General George C. Marshall's statement that peace in China appears "impossible."

Washington observers felt that the conservative World War II chief of staff would not have made this discouraging report to the public unless he was sure nothing could be gained by silence and further patient effort.

May Spur Compromise
Unless, some believed, the wily negotiator hoped to spur some spirit of last minute compromise among the Nationalist and Communist political diehards who have stymied his efforts to find a solution.

As far as could be learned in Washington, Marshall, who is presiding over the personal envoy, had not consulted the state department in advance of his remarks. At the close of business Saturday the department had not received an official copy.

However, force was added to Marshall's statements since it was joined by Dr. John Leighton Stuart, newly appointed ambassador to China. Stuart is a veteran friend of the Chinese masses.

Official sources declined to comment on Marshall's statement but it had been known for some time that the United States is re-examining (Continued on Page Two) the smaller non-voting members, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky tangled with the British on order of hearing for the four nations.

Vishinsky did not oppose inviting non-members to the parley, but asked A. V. Alexander, the British delegate, to let the secretary-general arrange the order of their hearings.

Herbert V. Evatt, Australian minister for external affairs, opened the day's proceedings by supporting appeals of small Allied nations to attend the conference and demanding that a single rule be formulated to govern all such cases.

Secretary of State Byrnes in his capacity as chairman, then suggested that in view of the disagreement between Alexander and Vishinsky, the plenary should decide whether the general committee should handle the matter of hearings if the general secretariat failed to reach an agreement.

Vishinsky Answers
Vishinsky quickly demanded separate voting on his and Alexander's suggestions.

Evatt said he believed Albania has an "overwhelming case of a hearing" and backed Byrnes' contention that if Albania is recognized, Mexico, Egypt and Cuba should be given the same consideration.

Alexander then proposed that Austria be added to Byrnes' list of nations to be invited, and the American secretary called for a show of hands.

The move brought Ukrainian Foreign Minister Dmitri Manuilsky to his feet. He said:

"I would request the chair to go slowly. If further countries are proposed to be included on your own list, you must first ask Czechoslovakia if it will accept such additions within its original proposal that Albania be invited."

Byrnes then pressed for a vote on the Czech amendment and sought to rescue the conference from a parliamentary tangle by bringing Alexander's "general committee suggestion" to a ballot.

Submission Application
Egypt, Cuba and Mexico formally submitted applications to be invited as the meeting opened. Iran applied second later.

A. V. Alexander, British first lord of the admiralty, then disclosed that Austria yesterday had applied for permission to be heard in Luxembourg palace.

Evatt spoke up firmly for the right of small Allied states to participate in concluding peace treaties with the five Axis satellites.

He pointed out that the conference itself is confined to the 21 victorious nations and cannot be added to. But he argued that the Allied ranks include non-members who will be asked to sign peace treaties.

Evatt added:

"These nations, therefore, should participate here as non-members. Albania has an overwhelming case for a hearing."

"However, a single rule should be formulated to govern all such cases so they will not delay and confuse the proceedings, and we will know where we are going."

the city jail Saturday and forced the release of two white youths arrested following a fight with a Negro.

Arrest Nine
Nine white youths were arrested after the jail was attacked. They were accused of assaulting several Negroes, but no charges were filed. Police said one youth was armed with a pistol.

The incident began when two white youths, brothers, were arrested following a public altercation with L. S. Horton, a Negro, who fled the scene.

The two brothers asserted Horton "bumped into" them on a sidewalk.

A mob gathered and started to march on the city jail. Policemen Frank Johnson and Jess Hargrove fired a warning shot, but the mob tore down the jail doors and freed the brothers.

An eyewitness said the brothers told the crowd they were "satisfied."

But despite this, fighting broke out between Negroes and whites, necessitating the call for special police.

TURN SPOTLIGHT ON WAA OFFICIALS

open today before Chairman Slaughter, Democratic congressman whom President Truman successfully marked out for defeat in last week's New York primary election.

Wise's disclosure that the committee obtained "leads" that point to the War Assets Administration, now engaged in the disposal of billions of dollars worth of surplus property, followed an earlier statement by the counsel that "we have no evidence to date adequate to prove any violation of law."

However, Wise added, "Information is coming out that will place several people in tight positions."

Presumably, this information will be developed at the hearing.

To Call Fields
Wise said the first witness would be Benjamin F. Fields, Washington promoter whose name figured prominently in the Senate Mead committee's investigations of the Garson munitions combine. The House committee subpoenaed him.

Wise said the committee wished to question Fields concerning his purchase from the WAA of bronze wire screening which was "supposed" to be set aside for high priority claimants, especially those engaged in the construction of homes for veterans. The wire screening was said to be in "very short supply."

Fields said he would appear before the committee and "tell all," adding that he had "nothing to conceal."

Three discharged WSA Philadelphia employees charged with giving Fields information on the wire screening will follow him to the witness stand.

ANNOUNCE PROCEDURE FOR TERMINAL PAY

that women who served in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps are not eligible for terminal pay. Ex-servicewomen of the Women's Army Corps are eligible, he said.

All claims must be accompanied by the original, or a photostatic copy, of their discharge certificate. The army assured claimants that the certificates will be returned.

In case a veteran served in two branches of the armed forces, he must submit, with his claim, certificates of discharge from both services to the branch from which he was last separated.

Officers and warrant officers who received their appointment after service as enlisted men, and who accumulated furlough time in the enlisted ranks are entitled to payment, the announcement said. However, it was pointed out that the claim must not exceed 120 days, including terminal leave pay as an officer.

Widows Eligible
Widows and dependents of veterans are also eligible to make claim for unused furlough time, if the veteran died since discharge.

Dependents of persons who died in service are not entitled to a claim, since they received six months death gratuity pay.

In figuring unused furlough time, all service since September 8, 1939 is counted except time AWOL, time over leave, or time spent in confinement under court-martial sentence.

Payment will be based on an allowance of 2½ days per month, and will be made at the rate of pay at the time of discharge. The law also gives a subsistence allowance of 70 cents a day. However, 120 days is the maximum claim for which pay is allowed.

Card Of Thanks
I wish to thank all friends, neighbors and relatives for all kindness shown at the death of my wife. Also for flowers and cars donated.

MARSHALL GLOOMY
IN CHINA OUTLOOK;
CIVIL WAR LOOMS

ining its policy toward China with a view to just such a contingency as a breakdown in negotiations.

Uppermost in official minds working on this problem is the belief that, if negotiations fail, civil war must inevitably follow. There are some who argue that it has already begun.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 12—(INS)—Routine replacement of U. S. Army troops in China continued today in the face of a Chinese claim that approximately half of the American army forces in the war-shattered nation will be evacuated within a few days.

Arrival over the weekend of the transports Renville and Onaida at Tsingtao cast doubt on the evacuation report which received no official confirmation. The transports were carrying replacements for men scheduled to return to the United States under routine procedure.

Meanwhile, hopes for an immediate end to civil strife were considered poor and the government's central news agency claimed that Chinese communist forces renewed attacks against Nationalists in Shantung, Honan and Shensi provinces and in Manchuria.

Heavy Fighting
Heavy fighting was reported in the vicinity of the Kiatagau-Suchau railway junction.

True, negotiations were continuing on high levels, however, Chou En-Lai, second ranking Communist, conferred for five and a half hours with Dr. J. Leighton Stuart, American ambassador, Sunday.

Teng Chi, head of the Chinese youth party, also called on Doctor Stuart to thank the ambassador and Gen. George C. Marshall for their efforts to bring internal peace to China. Marshall and Stuart issued a joint statement over the weekend declaring peace appeared "impossible" in China.

Chinese observers, generally, assumed two attitudes in regard to the announcement of the two Americans. Some believed the statement was in the nature of a farewell for Marshall while others expressed the opinion that it was veiled ultimatum to all factions to get busy and work out a peace settlement.

Report Withdrawal
The evacuation report which came from Chinese government sources said that 907 American army officers and men will sail for the United States aboard a troopship in a few days.

This move would leave about 900 U. S. army troops in China although between 22,000 and 23,000 U. S. Marines are officially reported to be in North China at the present time.

Admiral Charles M. Cooke, Jr., U. S. Seventh Fleet commander, said last week that there were no immediate plans for withdrawal of the Marines despite recent armed clashes with Chinese guerrilla forces.

BRITISH SURROUND REFUGEE VESSELS IN HAIFA HARBOR

that the refugees aboard them would not be allowed to land on Palestine soil.

Most of the passengers were reported completely exhausted and in need of medical attention.

As the Jewish population of Haifa anticipated deportation of all unauthorized immigrants now in the area, it was obvious that tension was mounting to a new level for this strife-torn land.

British troops have set off every building of the Palestine government with formidable obstructions.

Battle Appearance
In Haifa, at least, it was becoming a "barbed-wire government". From a house-top the view was a survey of an active battle sector.

The sentries marched around the post office and police headquarters as well.

The setting seemed prepared for some secret military operation—or a new, feared, and possibly expected flare-up from Jewish extremist elements.

Zionists viewed the maneuvers as a new, "mailed fist" approach to illegal immigration to the Holy Land, and Jewish underground groups geared for action.

Thousands Wait
Swarms of British landing craft are concentrated around blockade runners in Haifa harbor where thousands of Jewish refugees are awaiting admittance to Palestine.

The small craft are outfitted with barbed-wire pens, apparently intended to carry human cargo.

Indications are the military movements aim at diversion of immigrant vessels to Cyprus, where the port of Famagusta has been alerted to receive six ships.

Jewish underground groups gave warning that any such move by Britain will lead to open warfare.

Cruisers Ready
The British cruiser Ajax and five destroyers are lined up across the entrance to Haifa harbor to prevent entry of six new immigrant ships reported at sea.

One of these named the Henrietta Shaid in memory of the founder of Hadassah, the American Jewish women's group, is carrying 700 persons.

A radar net to intercept "outlaw" vessels has been established between shore installations and warships from North Haifa south along the Palestine coast.

Houses For Rent

Months may pass before any discernible results come from the recent action of the National Housing Administration to channel a large share of new houses to the rental market, but at least it is a step down the right road if free enterprise is not to be permitted to function in the housing field. As an invitation to prospective builders in the rental field, the housing agency has relaxed the rules on rates under $80 a month, but without raising the top ceiling. No longer will a 20 per cent top differential be maintained between old and new rental housing, so long as the price doesn't exceed that $80.

Such action is noteworthy if for no other reason than that it indicates a perception in high quarters that houses and apartments for rent are the need of the day. For the average veteran or the head of a family in the low-income group, this simply is not the best time to build. To do so in too many cases entails a desperate plunge into building that often is cheaply constructed, poorly-planned and ridiculously-priced.

Of course, it is a delicate and almost dangerous matter to urge caution and wisdom upon a man who has no place for his children to grow. Too many have known the bitter hopelessness that springs from an endless succession of "no vacancy" signs.

But to escape from this kind of hardship contractors who always have built substantially still are doing so, but the abnormal demand for housing has brought out the jerry-builders, and it is of them that the veteran must beware. Building may be the solution for the man who has the means to make a substantial down payment, who can afford a lot in a suitable location, and who deals with a reputable contractor. But the average veteran needs a house or apartment to rent, and it is toward him that a great part of the building effort should be directed.

The FBI Takes Over

Attorney General Clark's decision to have the FBI take over the investigation into the affairs of the Garsson munitions combine implies that the Senate committee has established some sort of basis for possible prosecution. That is all it implies, for it is impossible that nothing to warrant grand jury action will be developed.

That is to say that the committee has succeeded in painting a general picture that looks bad for the companies involved. But there is evidently more to be done before serious charges of wrongdoing can be brought against anyone, for Mr. Clark has made it clear that action will not come, if at all, until "careful examination of the books and records of the various companies is completed."

Nevertheless, it is gratifying that the Department of Justice is prepared to go ahead with the matter. It is also gratifying that the department intends to investigate the affairs of Andrew J. Higgins, the New Orleans pleasure boat builder who built up a great industrial enterprise during the war through government contracts for landing craft. If there was anything wrong there—and Mr. Higgins vigorously denies it—the public should know it.

So far the tangible results of the Senate committee's probe into the Garsson munitions "empire" have been more sensational than impressive. Moreover, the area covered by the inquiry has been almost insignificant when compared to the whole field that might be explored. But if the Justice department can find material to support indictments, and if it is prepared to trace down leads of its own even if they point at much bigger game than any flushed by the committee, the public will be convinced that the probe is in earnest.

Robot Bombers

Two drone B-17 bombers, guided by remote control, took off at Hilo, Hawaii, last week and landed 15 hours later at Muroc Field, California. By spanning 2,400 miles of ocean they set a new record for engine-powered pilotless planes. In previous similar experiments the aircraft carried safety pilots.

The significance of this feat hardly needs to be pointed out. But Brig. Gen. William L. Richardson, chief of the Army Air Forces Guided Missiles Division, who was in charge of "Operation Remote," has made certain that its meaning will not be lost on anyone. The flight, he has said, is a preview of the "not too far distant day" when it will be possible to put into the air an entire fleet of robot bombers directed to their destination by remote control.

It is easy to believe that this prophecy is all too well founded. The two drones were put into the air from the ground, two mother ships then took over, and at the end of the flight ground crews managed the landings. These crews and their equipment were loaded aboard other planes which had to arrive ahead of the drones, but there was no hitch in the arrangements.

The mother ships on this flight flew at distances of a few hundred feet to three miles from the drone planes. That suggests that remote control is not yet very remote. But the success of the operation testifies to the great progress already made in guiding unmanned planes and it suggests that radio-directed atomic rockets traveling at terrific speeds some day will be capable of finding targets thousands of miles away.

Health Talks

By DR. W. A. WOMER
City Health Superintendent

When we measure distances we speak of inches and feet and miles. When we measure weight we use ounces and pounds and tons.

When we are measuring nourishment we talk about calories. We are not usually so exact in measuring calories as when we measure in inches or pounds.

We say that a glass of milk or a potato or a slice of bread provide approximately 100 calories. Glasses of different sizes, and so are potatoes and slices of bread.

A lump of lead is heavier than a wad of cotton of the same size. A glass of milk provides more calories than a glass of water. The body needs calories of food to supply energy and heat.

It might be a good idea for mother to learn about calories so that she could figure out how much nourishment her family is getting.

"It's the person who enters into the dreams and dilemmas of the world who is truly great. It is easy for intellectuals to become spectators rather than participants"—Rev. Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo, New York pastor.

Words Of Wisdom

If you know how to spend less than you get, you have the philosopher's stone.—Franklin.

ALL VERY SIMPLE

When is a black market not a black market? Answer: When the government is the operator.

Example: If a butcher buys a steer, paying above ceiling, processes it and disposes of the meat, he is a criminal. That's black marketing. On the other hand, if the government buys wheat at 30 cents a bushel above ceiling, that is all right and good. That is not black marketing.

It is all very simple when one's thinking conforms to the bureaucratic pattern as made and provided in Washington, D. C.—Coffeyville Journal.

"Humanity is helpless against other forces than atomic energy. More people are being destroyed or dehumanized today, in a world nominally at peace, than were killed in all the bombings of the war"—Mrs. Anne O'Hare McCormick.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

Serious Congressmen Sometimes Overlooked

WASHINGTON—The members of the 79th congress are back home. For a change, they are listening instead of talking—trying to find out what people are thinking before they begin to campaign.

Like every other congress, the 79th congress was a pretty fair cross-section of the country, probably better than we deserve, in the light of our political apathy, and indifference. One thing most people tend to forget—and that goes for those of us who spend a lot of time observing congress—is the proportion of serious-minded, earnest men and women who work hard at the job of being a representative or a senator.

Noisy Demagogues

The demagogues and the special-interest servers make so much noise that we forget they are not a majority but a rather small minority. We hear a lot about John Rankin of Mississippi but very little to take one example, about Mrs. Frances P. Bolton.

The congresswoman from Ohio works hard at the job. But as she has often said, if she were not in congress, she could find a number of other ways to occupy herself in the public good.

Or, being a woman of wealth, she could do nothing. Mrs. Bolton is well aware, however, that wealth entails responsibility. She knows that a conservative is not someone who merely says no in a loud, angry voice. A conservative must know how to conserve, which does not mean standing in the way of all change.

A Republican, Mrs. Bolton has often fought for measures which most of her fellow Republicans in the house felt were dangerously radical and contrary to "states' rights." The latest example was her effort to get an appropriation to continue federal aid in the fight on organized vice and juvenile delinquency.

For many years, Mrs. Bolton has been a vice-chairman of the American Social Hygiene Association. She knows, out of expert knowledge, the devastating impact of war on morals and manners. Yet Congressman Frank B. Keefe of Wisconsin and John W. Gurnea of Iowa dismissed the matter as of merely local concern. They talked sneeringly of federal snappers butting into other people's business.

She's In Earnest

Unlike her Republican colleague, Clare Boothe Luce, who can't resist the temptation to satirize an issue to a wisecrack, Mrs. Bolton is in earnest in her objectives. One goal has been to get something done about the notoriously bad hospitals in the District of Columbia. Here again, Mrs. Bolton has expert knowledge, having had probably more experience in hospital administration than most non-professionals.

As a member of a foreign affairs subcommittee, Mrs. Bolton went on a tour last year that took her to Russia, Poland, all of the Balkan countries, and every country in the near east. Only the lady from Ohio and one other colleague went the whole route. Visiting Saudi Arabia, she became the only woman ever to sit in conference with King Ibn Saud. She was also the only outside ever to visit the king's harem.

Elected to fill the unexpired term of her husband when he died, Mrs. Bolton has been re-elected three times. Renominated in this year's Republican primary without opposition, she does not anticipate too stiff a fight this fall. Yet, after a vacation, she is going home to campaign with the vigor and forthrightness of a veteran.

Voorhis Hard Worker

On the other side of the aisle, in the congress that is now history, sat Representative Jerry Voorhis of California. Voorhis is a progressive. He and Mrs. Bolton do not speak the same political language. But they have in common a great sense of the responsibility of the office they hold.

Voorhis has been called the hardest working member of congress. The number of hours of work he averages a day would make a good tradesman turn cold with horror. Like Mrs. Bolton, he has a wide range of interests and also a specialized knowledge—in education—which makes him particularly useful.

Unhappily, the system under which congress works puts a premium on demagoguery. It is partly, too, the fault of the press. The windy voice, mouthing nothing, gets the headlines. The earnest day-to-day work is too often overlooked.

Reduction of the number of committees in house and senate under the LaFollette-McCormack bill is a definite advance. That measure represents a real victory in the struggle to bring congress up to date. But the committee system still gives the demagogues and the time servers an edge over men and women who take their obligation seriously.

The State Police Say:

Rain presents a very serious problem to the inexperienced or unwary driver. Vision is limited by natural conditions and if the windows are closed during a rain storm the windshield becomes clouded, thus further restricting further visibility. On some roads, rain water mixing with an oily film on the highway surface makes a very dangerous condition.

A very dangerous condition is created by the "slippery" wet pavement. We suggest that you slow down to 20 m. p. h. while descending hills when the highway is so posted.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

A Portland (Oregon) steamfitter is accused of accidentally killing his wife with a "Pandora's box" filled with dynamite. He suspected she was running around with another man and had set the trap for him.

Pandora, as you will remember from your school days, discovered the gods and out of curiosity opened the box that contained all the world's evils.

So, this steamfitter, also remembering his school days, filled a suitcase with dynamite and appropriate gadgets, put it in the basement, and allegedly forbade his wife to touch it.

Curiously, which killed the cat, also killed the steamfitter's wife, who couldn't resist the temptation, opened the suitcase and was blown to bits.

The origin of most legends and mythological stories is unknown. But their originators were undoubtedly wise men and practical philosophers who knew human nature pretty well and used this method of bringing home to their contemporaries and to future generations truths that in more didactic form would not have registered nearly so well.

Pandora's box is still one of the world's greatest mischief makers. Just tell a person not to do a thing and he won't be satisfied until he finds out what is inside Pandora's box.

Prohibition was a good example. Thousands who had never given alcohol a thought before wanted to find out for themselves what this greatly publicized thing could do. "You must not drink" was the edict of the gods in Washington, and promptly thousands became Pandora.

The OPA is another example. The black market is a Pandora's box. "There isn't any butter," "there isn't any meat,"

The World and the Mud Puddles

No. 28

JOHN MARSHALL'S BACKGROUND

At the time George Washington was inaugurated president, there was only one political party recognized in the United States; namely, the Federalist, and it was so with the term of the second president, John Adams, but with the inauguration of Thomas Jefferson on March 4, 1801, times had changed. The "common man" had come into being through a leader—that same Thomas Jefferson under a political party called the Republican and so it was that Thomas Jefferson was inaugurated as a Republican, strange as it may seem, and its designation as the Democratic party did not obtain until Andrew Jackson was elected. Andrew Jackson was elected as a plain Democrat and the party has been designated as the Democratic party ever since, although Thomas Jefferson has been ascribed as being the founder of the Democratic party.

Just one month before Jefferson's inauguration, John Marshall took his seat as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States at the first term of court in Washington, the new capital, on Wednesday, February 4, 1801. Marshall was a Federalist and by a strange coincidence, it was Marshall who administered the inaugural oath to Thomas Jefferson. At that moment two strong antagonisms looked into each other's eyes. Thomas Jefferson, internationalist, believer in the sovereignty of the states, aristocrat and playing politics with the "common man."

John Marshall, like Jefferson, was descended on his mother's side from the Randolphs of Turkey Island. His father, Thomas Marshall, was of modest lineage and a pioneer. John Marshall was one of 15 children. His education was quite simple. The library in his home consisted of Shakespeare, Milton, Dryden and Pope. His special text book was Pope and it is said that Marshall had transcribed the whole of "The Essay on Man" by the time he was 12 years of age and some of the "Moral Essays" as well, having committed to memory some of the most interesting passages of that poet. The "Essays on Man" no doubt filled the same education of the first generation of American judges that Herbert Spencer's "Social Statics" filled in that of the judges of a later day. The "Essay on Man" pictures the universe as a species of constitutional monarchy governed "not by partial but by general laws." In "man's imperial race" this beneficent sway expresses itself in two principles—self love to urge and reason to restrain. A age of 14 Marshall was placed under the care of a clergyman by the name of Campbell, who taught him the rudiments of Latin and introduced to him Levy, Cicero and Horace, but the political discussions prior to the Revolution became the decisive factor in determining his intellectual future. He read Blackstone.

He served in the Continental Army and wrote afterwards: "I have grown up at a time when the love of the Union and the resistance to Great Britain were the inseparable inmates of the same bosom; when the maxim 'United we stand, divided we fall' was the maxim of every orthodox American. And I had imbibed these sentiments so thoroughly that they constituted a part of my being to resist them with me into the army where I found myself associated with brave men from different states who were risking life and everything valuable in a common cause believed by all to be most precious, and where I was confirmed in the habit of considering America as my country and Congress as my government."

While still in the service he attended a course in law lectures given by George Wythe at William and Mary college and after the surrender of Cornwallis, he started to practice his profession of law in Richmond, Va. He became a member of the Virginia Legislature and as such his democratic manners and personal popularity with all classes were a pronounced asset for any cause for which he spoke. When Patrick Henry argued on the floor of the Virginia Legislature that a vigorous Union was not necessary because "we are separated by the sea from the powers of Europe," Marshall replied: "Sir, the sea makes them neighbors of us."

He became a Federalist candidate for Congress in the Richmond, Va. district. His views at this time are interesting. When asked whether he favored an alliance with Great Britain, he declared: "Politics respecting foreign nations was 'treacherous to this single position—commercial intercourse with all, but political ties with none.' He was not exactly an isolationist but he was a political isolationist."

Elections in Virginia were interesting affairs. In Virginia, the voter, instead of casting a ballot, merely declared his preference in the presence of the candidates, the election officials and the assembled multitude. In the intensity of the struggle, no voter, halt, lame or blind was overlooked, and a barrel of whiskey near at hand helped matters along. Time and again the vote in the district was a tie and as a result frequent personal encounters took place between aroused partisans. Marshall was elected by a large majority in a borough which was strongly pro-Jeffersonian, and was due not to his principles but to his personal popularity.

He became Secretary of State to John Adams and it was John Adams who sent his nomination to the Senate as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, in time for him to be confirmed and to take his place as Chief Justice to administer the Presidential oath to Thomas Jefferson.

Peace Treaties Sow Seeds Of Disagreement
Tri-Lingual Pacts May Be Stumbling Blocks
Baseball Union Far From Dead Despite Setback

(Special to Central Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Some cynical diplomats believe that many doors may be thrown open for future international disagreement by the peace treaties drafted for Italy, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Finland.

These diplomats argue that the wording of the treaty drafts is not precise enough to give any assurance of a generally accepted definition of the terms agreed upon by the Allies.

In addition, it is pointed out that there are numerous issues which the "Big Four" foreign ministers have yet to settle before work on the treaties is completed. These issues could affect international litigation for years to come.

However, the treaties, even in their unfinished form, are viewed by some diplomats as setting the stage for a world of trouble. They say that it will take international courts forever to interpret the treaties.

Languages Bring Confusion
The fact that the treaties are drafted in three official languages—French, English and Russian—merely complicates matters. Before World War II, French was accepted as the official language of international conferences.

Some international lawyers feel that it would be more logical to write the present treaties in French and thus eliminate the prospect of disagreement in the translation of the various languages.

American diplomatic and military officials are seeking eye-to-eye on Spain and the insistence of Soviet Foreign Minister, Vyacheslav Molotov, that Franco's regime is a menace to world peace.

To a man, United States state and war department officials disagree with Molotov. In fact, many brass is privately comparing Spain's military power to the bellicose portents of the legendary Ferdinand the Bull. Ferdinand was the toughest-looking bull who preferred to nibble daisies and sleep the live-long day. On paper, Spain has a good army, trained by Franco and toughened by the Spanish civil war. But the Spanish army, the Spanish people and even Franco, diplomats say, want no war.

Actually, Spain's fighting forces scarcely could do more than defend the homeland in event of an attack against the Iberian peninsula. The nation's industrial potential is low. Her air force is small and she is not a scientific country.

Oak Ridge Election Unusual
The collective bargaining elections to be held soon at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., atom bomb plants represent the most unusual case ever handled.

Life at a summer cottage is one of a thousand joys. And a thousand strange distractions and a thousand sorts of noise. There is ever a squeak in the stairway and ever the squeak in the floor.

And the racing feet of the children, and the ceaseless banging of doors. Just try for a nap after dinner, and somebody's child falls down. And the ladie battle is empty and it's up for a trip to town! Or the youngsters get into a squabble or soon it is time to swim—And a little boy bent on swimming lets nobody silence him.

But this is the way it should be. With anguish my soul would fill To be in the cottage a minute it ever the place were still. Its purpose is youthful laughter and the noise of the children's play. And if ever the doors stop banging I'll pack up and hurry away.

Guidance Center Helps GI's Choose Careers

New Castle, as well as Pittsburgh and Allegheny college, now has a guidance center for veterans. The local one is located in the offices of the Veterans' Administration on the second floor of the L. S. & T. building, according to an announcement from Worrell T. Jones, head of the VA sub-regional office.

The veteran who is interested in school but doesn't know what course he wants, or the one who would like a job but isn't sure what he can do is the man this guidance center was set up for. His first encounter with it comes in his interview with the vocational advisor, when the two of them get their heads together and try to figure out an "objective" for the veteran. The ex-GI himself chooses his own objective, whether it is learning to operate a drill press or studying "European Diplomacy Since 1900" in a college classroom.

What To Do?

If he isn't sure what he wants to do or study, he finds himself encountering a battery of personality, interest, dexterity and aptitude tests which don't solve his problem for him, but which certainly help him to define possible objectives much more clearly. He learns how well he can use his fingers, how good his spatial judgment is, whether or not he has a social service sense, whether he is any good at using the English language or whether he is handier at figures.

If he is pretty sure what his objective is, then he takes an aptitude test to see if he really has the abilities necessary for the job or the schooling. These tests may be taken by any veteran, but are "must" for disabled veterans seeking training or education under Public Law 16.

The testing takes a good five to eight hours, and then the veteran and his advisor check over the results and the significance of those results.

State College Men

Testing and counseling are done by Penn State employees under the technical supervision of Pennsylvania State college. Two vocational appraisers and a psychometrist are in the office, along with a Veterans' Administration advisor, W. R. Anderson. Mr. Anderson checks all of the results before they are sent into the regional office of the Veterans' Administration in Pittsburgh. The appraisers are Stanley Kraus and Fred Ball, who is leaving and will be replaced by Mr. Nulton, who will also represent Penn State. Mrs. Franklyn McElvaine has been serving as psychometrist, but is leaving this week and will be replaced temporarily by Mrs. Mildred Slocum of Altoona.

On the list of objectives which veterans have chosen are: jeweler, civil engineer, cash register service-man, veterinary surgeon, chemical, industrial and aeronautical engineer, printer, photographer, accountant, senior and junior, cabinet maker, metallurgist, carpenter, teacher, auto mechanic, electrical repairman and many more.

There are a few who go through the tests and still aren't sure what they want to do, but most of the men who have underlined words in the vocabulary tests, struggled thru the mental capacity exams, moved little plastic circles around for the art test, or fitted little pegs into boards for the dexterity tests come out of the guidance center with a definite idea of going into the one or more fields which they know are open to them.

Concerns Scored Who Use Veterans To Get WAA Goods

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (INS)—The War Assets administration declared today that widespread use of veterans as "fronts" is being made by business concerns seeking to acquire surplus property.

The agency, in its quarterly report, stated in connection with misuse of veterans' priority certifications: "This is doubly unfortunate because a very small percentage of the veteran population is diverting relatively large quantities of material from those veterans who desire to engage in their own small businesses."

"All such violations coming to the attention of the compliance enforcement division are referred to the department of justice."

The report disclosed that 374 such complaints have been handled by the division. It also revealed that more than 1,200 investigations of alleged criminal misconduct or favoritism in surplus property disposal were conducted during April, May and June. The investigations resulted in 30 arrests and 26 indictments involving bribery, fraud against the government, or theft of government property. Eight of the persons arrested were government employees.

There will be no noon luncheon meeting of New Castle Lions club this week, because of the annual corn roast on Wednesday. This will take place at Lakewood with the activities getting under way in the afternoon when a good program of sports, etc., will take place. The meal will be served at 5 o'clock and each member is expected to bring his own table service. This is for members, their families, and guests.

R. F. Conway, Secretary.

Curiosity Causes Second Wreck In Few Minutes Time

Two Accidents Occur At Camp Perry Near Mercer After Drivers Fail To Heed Stop Signs

MERCER, Pa., Aug. 10.—State Police from the Mercer sub-station investigated two automobile accidents at Camp Perry, on the Perry Highway north, Thursday.

At 2:15 p. m., they were called on an accident at the intersection of Route 19 and 358, when a car owned and driven by Bruce S. Kellogg, 61, of Kent, Ohio, failed to observe the stop sign and struck a car owned and operated by Ivory Byrd, of 435 West Second street, Erie. The total damages to both cars is estimated at $40.

Kellogg was proceeding west on Route 358, and stated that he did not see the stop sign. He was arrested by the State Police and arraigned before Justice of the Peace J. Guy Carmon, of Greenville. He was charged with failing to observe a stop sign, and received the customary fine and costs.

At 2:30 p. m., while the accident was being investigated, Elmer Santarelli, 16, of Wyoming, Luzerne County, approached the intersection, and while looking at the two cars which had been previously involved in the accident, failed to observe the stop sign and drove his truck through it, striking a car operated by Karl Smock, aged 36, of 890 A street, Meadville.

He 'Shore' Was In Bad Shape

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Aug. 12.—(INS)—Ralph H. Shore of Alexandria, Va., will never forget his passage through the famous Soo Locks in Michigan.

Shore, a passenger on the steamer South American, left for shore while the ship was being lowered through the canal.

When he returned, the steamer had been lowered and the mooring lines had been loosened. Shore fell between the lock and the ship.

Two lock workers wedged wooden blocks between the South American and the concrete wall, preventing the ship from crushing Shore.

The Virginian was treated for shock.

POPCORN MACHINE EXPLODES, KILLS BOY, INJURES SIX

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 12.—(INS)—A leaking gasoline line on a portable popcorn machine was blamed today by Scranton authorities for causing the explosion in which a 10-year-old boy attending a church picnic was injured fatally and his parents and four other children painfully burned.

The victim, Joseph Coyer, of Scranton, was pumping air into the 14 ft. tank when the blast scattered flaming gasoline for more than 15 feet. More than a score of children attending the picnic escaped harm.

FLORENCE MICCO
WEDS F. MANCINE

Miss Florence Micco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Micco, of 926 Croton avenue, became the bride of Frank Mancine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ottavio Mancine of Ellwood City, at a pretty ceremony performed Saturday morning, August 10, at 10 o'clock.

Rev. Frank Maruso, using the single ring service, officiated at the wedding which took place in the Italian Pentecostal church in the presence of a large group of friends and relatives.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of white dotted Swiss, made en train. Her gown was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, with the sleeves tapering at the wrist. Her long Dutch style veil of tulle fell from a crown of orange blossoms. She carried a cascade bouquet of white lilies, centered with an orchid. Her only jewelry was a gold locket, gift of the groom.

Miss Mary Fava, attired in a pink gown of net over taffeta, served as maid of honor. She wore a blue headdress and carried a colonial bouquet of Johanna Hill roses.

Robert Mancine acted as best man for his brother.

Miss Florence Shoemaker played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied Miss Esther Krumpel, soloist, who sang "Wonderful Saviour" and "Jesus, the Son of God".

A wedding dinner was served at a local dining room, with places being set for 40 guests. In the evening a reception for friends and relatives took place at the bride's home.

The newlyweds have left for a honeymoon to New York City and other points of interest. Upon their return they will reside in their newly-built and furnished home in Ellwood City.

Mr. Mancine is a veteran of World War II, having served with the paratroopers for four and a half years in the Pacific and European theaters of war.

Seeking Reason U. S. Plane Downed By Tito's Airmen

BELGRADE, Aug. 12.—(INS)—The American Embassy in the Yugoslav capital was amassing details today from U. S. sources on the events that led to the downing of a C-47 aircraft by fighter planes of Marshal Tito's air force.

The American vice-consul at Zagreb was ordered to Ljubljana to interview the eight military men and two civilians who were aboard the plane on its routine flight from Vienna to Italy. The pilot and copilot were believed injured.

It was not certain whether the Yugoslav fighter craft fired at the American plane, which dropped into a meadow.

However, U. S. officials said it was the first instance of an American plane being forced down by an Allied nation. Russian planes in Austria have "buzzed" American aircraft but stopped short of forcible action.

Yugoslav officials disclosed the incident in a formal note to Harold Shantz, charge d'affaires at the U. S. Embassy. The note charged that the plane was flying over Yugoslav territory without permission despite previous warnings from Tito and the Belgrade foreign office.

It said that 172 American planes have "violated" Yugoslav territory since February of this year.

PETTY OFFICE ANNOYANCES
In a recent interview, Perc Westmore, one of Hollywood's well-known experts in make-up and hair styling, told how he had conducted his own poll among executives, department heads and writers on the studio lot who gave him the following ten most leading criticisms of women employees:

1. Straggling hair in the nape of the neck when an up-sweep is worn and the generally uncombed look.
2. Overuse of make-up.
3. Rearranging nose.
4. Pulling down girdles.
5. Filing nails in the office.
6. Dangling cigarette from the corner of the mouth (when smoking is permitted in the office).
7. Putting pencils in the hair.
8. Putting on make-up in the office.
9. Constant preening before a mirror.

A business-executive friend of mine, looking over this list, added his own gripes against feminine office workers:

Too much time wasted in talking among themselves about outside interests.

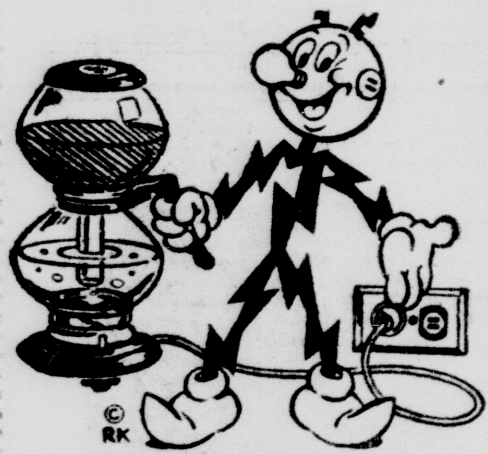

Too many personal telephone calls during business hours.

Puffing the company's time in small doses—being ten minutes late in the morning—talking an extra 10 or 15 minutes at lunch time—dashing out on the dot or a little before at the day's end without ascertaining if there is a last-minute essential job to be done before closing the office.

These are some of the annoying traits that send businessmen home with a 5 o'clock grouch.

Would any of you secretaries care to express your opinion of the boss? Anonymously, of course!

THE PARENT PROBLEM

visiting it and teaching the younger tots to take turns.

For this occasion, a combination of slide and teeter-totter has arrived, the finest piece of inexpensive apparatus we have discovered. Fortunately, the weather has been good and the children all can be out of doors most of the day except when all but Shirley are taking their naps. Garry III still has a morning and an afternoon nap.

This youngest one just stepped out of another room ahead of his father, bumped into a chair and fell over. His father stepped over him nonchalantly. The youngster picked himself up, smiling. In many a home a single youngster does more crying than all these six do together.

Occasionally, some adult begins to read to one of the children and soon more of them are crowding near to listen. Sometimes, two or three adults are reading to one or more of these tots at the same time, even in the same room.

Now and then, one of the children feels he is not having his share of fun or attention. A little guidance at the moment by one of these adults seems to help. Whether by luck or good management, no very pronounced jealousies have been apparent.

The experience has been good for all of us. After the children have gone to bed we all have enjoyed some discussion of them and the little problems which have arisen and this has gone on rather objectively.

For the children, themselves, the experience certainly has been wholesome. Best of all, I think, has been the good "workshop" they have afforded me, verifying my theories here, causing me to re-interpret them a bit there, helping me to keep up on how young children develop and behave and respond to practical guidance.

CHICKEN OUTPUT DROPS AS FEEDS

ARE SCARCE. HIGH
HARRISBURG, Aug. 12.—(INS)—Scarcity and rising costs of feed were blamed today by the state agriculture department for the 21 percent drop in chicken production in Pennsylvania compared with last year.

The total number of chickens raised on Pennsylvania farms so far this year was estimated at 32,274,000, approximately 8,677,000 below the wartime peak reached in 1943, the department reported.

Magna-Cut diamonds are cut with 102 facets . . . 102 reflecting surfaces that give them exceptional beauty. Expert diamond craftsmen have judged Magna-Cut diamonds to be the most beautiful diamonds they have ever seen.

For hundreds of years most "brilliant" diamonds were cut with 58 facets. Recently one of America's greatest diamond cutting firms, striving for even greater brilliance, experimented by cutting diamonds with more than 58 facets. They found that the best results were achieved when they cut diamonds with exactly 102 facets . . . 102 fine reflecting surfaces. This beautiful diamond design has been named Magna-Cut.

Look for the Magna-Cut trade mark on the inside of the diamond ring you buy. It is your guarantee that your ring is set with a genuine, 102 facet, Magna-Cut diamond . . . heirloom of the future.

Pupils To Register At Ben Franklin

Several groups of new pupils are to report to Ben Franklin Junior high school for registration during the week of August 19 from 9 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock in the afternoon, according to an announcement from Gerald

E. Nord, principal of the school. Those pupils who are to register include: new students, entering Franklin from parochial schools; new pupils entering from township schools; and new students who have recently moved into the Franklin district and are entering the school for the first time.

Former Franklin students and new seventh graders from city elementary schools will not need to register before school opens.

Gaston Post To Meet Tuesday Eve

Plans for the annual department convention will be completed at the meeting of Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion, in their home at 134 North Jefferson street, Tuesday evening.

There will be a number of other important business matters up for discussion at this time. Commander Leon A. Drum reports.

A quick wipe of the piano keys with a soapy cloth should be part of your cleaning procedure. Remember, however, to rinse and use a minimum amount of water. Too much will dissolve the glue under the keys and cause them to loosen.

Soviet Shadow Deepens Over Polish Nation

(Editor's Note: This is the fifth of a series of articles describing conditions today in Poland. Viewpoints of all major parties and groups have been presented, and this article concludes the political survey.)

By JAMES E. BROWN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WARSAW, Aug. 12.—Poland's left-wing government may soon adopt harsh Soviet methods in dealing with the moderate and extreme-right opposition.

There are many unmistakable signs that a crisis is approaching. Secretary of the workers' (Communist) party Wladislaw Gomułka has already been informed of Moscow's impatience at the growing number of Red army men who are being killed by the partisans. The Communists fully realize what Stalin's alternative to a government which cannot keep order will be, and there is no order today in Poland.

Added to this, the results of the referendum, which was a trial of strength, frightened the government. They have made attempts to placate the opposition during the year they have been in office, and the vote against them was larger than they expected.

Underground Bold
The NSZ (underground army) has become so bold that all of Poland's, Soviet's organized, 17-division army is needed constantly for public work.

Finally, the stunning attack against the government by primate of Poland, Cardinal Augustus Hlond, with all the immeasurable strength of the Roman Catholic church behind him removed their last doubt concerning the possibility of continuing to maintain pseudo-democratic facade.

Since the referendum, Mikolajczyk has been asked not to oppose the government in the elections but to combine with them in a single bloc. He was offered 25 per cent of the seats in the single chamber and was told the government feared civil war if he refused.

A member of Mikolajczyk's party, whom I have hitherto found accurate in his information, told me if the government offered 40 per cent of the seats the vice-premier might have to accept against the possibility of getting nothing.

The Sovietization of Poland is paradoxically being hastened by the strength of the opposition to Communism. The underground is stronger, better organized, and better armed than any country in Eastern Europe. Stalin has repeatedly declared he will not tolerate an unfriendly Poland.

Police Severe
Secret police methods in this country are unbelievably severe by western standards, but they are mild compared with what this correspondent has seen during three years in Russia. It may be expected that within the next few months the UB (secret police) will be reinforced by many more NKVD agents than it now employs.

Another development which foreign observers expect will accompany the purge will be a strong anti-American and anti-British campaign. This will be an effort to combat the potent western influence still present in Poland.

Accusations against both America and Britain will be based on charges of attempting to interfere in the internal affairs of Poland. It will be said that Britain through General Anders is not only financing but arming the underground.

Center On Lane
The attack on America will probably be centered first on the person of Ambassador Arthur Bliss Lane. It will be said Ambassador Lane arranged with Cardinal Hlond to receive the American correspondents at the interview when the cardinal denounced the government.

As one who was present, I want to refute the allegation that Ambassador Lane arranged the interview. The ambassador did not arrange the interview, but he allowed us an embassy interpreter at our request.

The use of an American embassy interpreter on a controversial interview was unfortunate, but Ambassador Lane could not have known what the cardinal was going to say.

Whether there is civil war in Poland today is a question which depends on what proportion of the population have to be involved in actual strife before this term may be used. There are 100,000 armed guerrillas opposing several divisions, but the underground have no tanks or artillery, and they are not in possession of any large city.

Poland's common frontier with Russia makes it probable that in the end the opposition will be liquidated. A former partisan summed it up when he said:

"We are defeated, not by arms, but by geography."

Several Grocers May Lose Right To Handle Sugar

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 12.—Several local retail grocers will be among those facing the loss of their right to handle sugar when the Office of Price Administration conducts suspension proceedings in the city-county building, Pittsburgh, on August 13 and 14.

Defendants in the sugar hearings will reply to the OPA's allegation against them that their overdrawn ration bank accounts or their counterfeit stamp purchases have illegally dissipated allowable sugar stocks. The list includes Angelo Stavas and A. G. Zazanis, Mira Market, 127 West Long avenue, New Castle, and Anna Carado, 4744 Fourth avenue, Beaver Falls.

A hearing commissioner from the Office of Administrative Hearings in New York will preside over the proceedings and will issue suspension orders, the maximum of which may be for the duration of rationing or of controls.

Mosquito Battle To Open In State
HARRISBURG, Aug. 12.—(INS)—The department of health's battle against mosquito and malaria hazards was spearheaded today by Maj. Russell W. Gies, of Media.

Secretary Harry W. West announced Gies would receive $2930 annually to work part time in the task of eradicating the anopheles mosquito.

He said Gies had reported that spot-checks throughout the state had disclosed the presence of anopheles or malaria-bearing mosquitoes.

"Although the spread of malaria in Pennsylvania is certainly not an imminent danger, the fact cannot be ignored that many returned war veterans have become carriers of this disease that can be transmitted from an infected person to a well one by the bite of a certain type of mosquito," West asserted.

"We feel it is only good public health foresight to begin a study of the problem at this time," he added.

The department study will be made from an engineering and medical standpoint. West said. Epidemiologists have been ordered to scrutinize "all reported cases of malaria" including veterans to ascertain the extent to which civilians were being affected by the disease.

Gies, now on terminal leave from the U. S. Public Health Service, has served as executive officer and financial director of the Delaware County mosquito control commission for the past two years.

Summer Madness
NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(INS)—The law and the bride's parents took an unsympathetic view today of the elopement of a 17-year-old Navy trainee and a girl two years his junior.

Arthur Fleischman, the groom, and Lydia Johnson faced arraignment today. He is charged with eloping to Maryland with Lydia and marrying her without parental consent. She is charged with delinquency.

Fleischman said he financed the trip by fixing flat tires and repairing motor cars en route.

Eagles Outing At El Rio Beach
Over 500 Members Of Club Enjoy Sports, Contests At Annual Affair

Aerie 455 of the Eagles organization enjoyed a picnic outing at El Rio beach Sunday with some 500 members attending the annual "stag" affair.

Sports and other contests occupied much of the day and a delicious beef sandwich lunch highlighted the refreshments which were under the supervision of Harry Evans.

Harry Buckley, worthy president, was in charge of entertainment.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 12.—Let's start the week off right by putting down the name of Shirley Temple as a very spunky young woman.

Everybody knows how Shirley loves dogs, but she's just proved it in very bold and conclusive action. Seeing a woman motorist run down a neighbor's dog, Shirley gave chase in her own car, and ran the offender's machine to the curb.

Then she proceeded to give the woman a verbal lashing she probably won't forget for many a day. Then she called police to get aid for the injured animal.

Win Admiring Attention With Jewelry from Perelman's

It was for a comedy scene in "It Happened in Brooklyn." Your reporter wanted to know who won.

Said Katherine with sly smile: "I'm heavier than he is."

Glad to say that Edmond O'Brien, making his first picture after three years in the service, comes out of "The Killers" as a worthy detective rival for Humphrey Bogart and Dick Powell. Ed is perfect in the top role in a thrilling picture Mark Hellinger made from Ernest Hemingway's little story. The newcomer, Burt Lancaster, is terrific in the role of "Swede" and Ava Gardner turns in her best screen performance.

Your reporter, as you know, recommends very few pictures, but this is a must see if you're sufficiently cushioned to spend an hour and a half on the edge of your seat.

Do you get up in the mornings still tired, feel down-and-out all day? Have you checked up on your blood strength lately? Overwork, undue worry, cold, flu or other illness often wears down the red-blood-cells.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organ-

Urges Vigilance, Effort To Retain Present Economy

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 12.—(INS)—
The Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia warned today that the nation's current favorable economic situation could be maintained only by "vigilance and effort."
The bank declared that the nation's 1946 income and employment is "unprecedented" and production records have been attained more quickly than had been anticipated.

At the same time, the Federal Bank pointed out that if prices and wages continue to "play leap-frog" on an ascending stairway of excessive credit expansion "the type of collapse which followed World War I may eventually come."
To forestall this, the institution urged a balance among wages, production, prices, and money supply, and cooperation and restraint on the part of business, banking, labor and other groups.

International Convention Of Disciples Of Christ Closes At Columbus, O., Sunday

Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian church, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Patton and Mrs. Grace Phillips Johnson, have returned from the international convention of the Disciples of Christ of America, which came to a close Sunday, in the great Memorial Hall of Columbus, O.

The convention, which opened last Tuesday evening, attracted delegates from all over the world, with 6,000 Disciples of Christ in attendance at the sessions. General chairman for the convention was Dr. W. E. Sadler, president of Texas Christian university. Dr. Hampton Adams was named international president of the Disciples of Christ, at the election of officers held.

Among the outstanding speakers during the week's sessions were Dr. Daniel Poling, pastor of the Baptist Temple of Philadelphia, and Attorney Alexander Campbell of Fort Wayne, Ind., a U. S. prosecuting attorney for the northern Indiana district.

The goal set up by the convention delegates to be started in the fall was a world crusade for Christ among the Christian churches of the Disciples of Christ of the world. The campaign will be carried throughout next year.

University Dinner

An interesting sidelight of the convention was the banquet of the Phillips university alumnae, on Wednesday evening, at which time Dr. Bennett and Mrs. Johnson gave short addresses. The university, located at Enid, Okla., with a present enrollment of 1,000 members, was founded by the late Thomas W. Phillips.

The next convention is scheduled for Buffalo, N. Y., in August of 1947.

Dr. Bennett reported upon his return from the Columbus meet, an avalanche of reservations for the 113th state convention of the Disciples of Christ which will be held in this city, September 16, 17 and 18, were upon his desk, indicating that a record attendance will be here to take in the sessions.

"Almost every mail," stated Dr. Bennett, "numerous reservations are received for the convention which will attract delegates from every corner of the state."

The opening session will be on Monday evening, September 16, with Mrs. Katharine Nessler Allen presenting a program of organ music, to be followed by outstanding speakers from many points.

Sound Picture Pioneers Started In New Castle

Twenty years ago this month saw the advent of sound motion pictures. On August 6, 1926, Samuel Warner of the Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc., showed the first commercial sound motion picture before an audience.

Sam, with his brother, Albert, started in the motion picture business here in 1903. At that time the Warner brothers operated a bicycle shop in Youngstown, O. Impressed by the first movie he saw, "The Great Train Robbery," Sam, with his brother, bought a projector and a print of the picture and toured the small towns of Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Open in New Castle
After six months on the road, they returned to New Castle and opened a moving picture house.

Do you suffer from MONTHLY distress of FEMALE WEAKNESS?

This great medicine is famous to relieve pain, nervous distress and weak, crampy, "dragged out" feelings of such days—when due to female functional monthly disturbances.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

working with John Herbold, Dan and Ben Robins. The theater was on the second floor of the Knox building and faced on Mill street.

Among those local people who remember the Warner brothers well is Mrs. Herbold, wife of the late John Herbold. She related how her late husband refused to go to California on what he thought was a wild-cat scheme with the Warner brothers.

Another who related incidents concerning the first movie in New Castle was shoe repairman and news stand operator, John P. Logothets, South Mill street. He bought the theater in 1910, after Warner Brothers went into the picture exchange business in Pittsburgh. He is said to be benumbing the fact that he didn't stay in the movie business.

Reminisces

Logothets reminisces concerning the old movie, telling of the show house and how for a nickel, one could see three pictures in three separate rooms. He told how, when they wanted to get rid of the crowd, the operator would turn the crank on the machine must faster than it was to go. The hand operated projector used two reels and was projected on a screen that was made of a mirror. The cost of the mirror, 9' by 9', was $700.

An old timer who remembers the Warners, is J. Myron "Doc" Rice, of Leasure avenue, who played on a football team with Harry Warner back in those days.

According to Doc Rice, Harry Warner played on the Rayen high, Youngstown, football team and after the brothers started their theater here, Harry played football with the "town team." Among others who played on the team were Herm Hildebrand, Ed Logan, Pete Porter, Eddie Connery and St. Ingham. The boys met in Bill Smith's poolroom on Croton avenue.

Which Was It?

There seems to be a controversy as to the name of the first motion picture house in New Castle. It lies between three names, Cascade theater, Acme and the Dreamland. Dreamland wins with most local arguments, but books on motion picture history in the local library list the theater as the Cascade.

In remembering back, Speer Marousis, who brought the first talkie to New Castle, says that it was a portable outfit, set up for one week in the Regent theater and then moved on to another town. The date was early in the year of 1927. It was in the latter part of the same year that permanent equipment was installed in the e"nn theater, Mr. Marousis said.

Police arrested a woman when she tried to jump into the Chicago river, because she couldn't find meat for her husband's dinner. There's an easier way to get fish.

SLAUGHTERHOUSES

CLOSED BY STATE

HARRISBURG, Aug. 12.—(INS)—The state agriculture department reported today that the 11 Pennsylvania slaughterhouses closed during July because owners had refused to remedy insanitary conditions increased the number of establishments padlocked since January 1 to 58.

Secretary Miles Horst said nearly 700 inspections made last month had increased the number of tests during the seven-month period to 4371. Two hundred and eight slaughterhouses were found to be "defective" during the period, he added.

Department records showed that nearly one-half million meat animals were slaughtered between January 1 and July 31 but only 1344 "had to be condemned as unfit for human consumption."

Snakes shown in movie films are brightened up by shiny paint.

OHIO LUMBER NOT

USED IN BUILDING

PROGRAM OF STATE

COLUMBUS, O.—(INS)—Ohio forests and woodlots provided 235,000,000 board feet of lumber in 1945 but it was not used in construction of the 17,000 new six-room houses it would have built.

So reported F. W. Dean, extension forester of Ohio State university. He declared that native Ohio lumber is better for the construction of dwellings than lumber which is being shipped into this state from other areas.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Such baseball clubs as the Philadelphia Athletics, the Chicago White Sox and the New York Giants are being shunted into the discard by the more progressive major league outfits. They are out-moded in their thinking and in their operations and by this time merely limp along with the parade.

The same could be said of the Pittsburgh Pirates, except that their sale figures to lift them back into the procession. A change in ownership is the best cure for chronic ineptness.

Strangely, the people who guide the rundown club never seem to know that they are washed up. Either they don't know or they are silly enough to try and kid themselves and listeners.

Just Bush Leaguers
Last spring I stood at a hotel bar with a Philadelphia newspaperman discussing the Athletics while awaiting the time for my appointment with Connie Mack. The sports writer said:

"This probably is the worst ball club ever put together in the major leagues. Sam Chapman is a fine outfielder; George Kell is a commendable third baseman and Bo Newson is in shape to pitch again. But the rest are mostly bushers."

Not even Kell and Newson are with the A's now. They were traded to further reduce the chances of the club, which a few minutes after I left the newspaper man was described by Mr. Mack as a fairly good team. He said it was a couple of years away, but he didn't seem to be the least bit disturbed.

He must have seen what the newspaper man saw—that what he actually had was a good Class A club, a club which up to this point has won only 30 games this season and is 42 games from first place.

Giants Not So Bad
After leaving Mr. Mack, a visit to the Giants at Miami and, sitting out in the sun during a practice, owner Horace Stoneham discussed the potential power of his club and the great lift expected to be provided by Catcher Walker Cooper.

Told that some of the sports writers picked the Giants to finish in the second division and that at least one had predicted a cellar finish for them he gave with a rebuttal that made the Giants sound almost like contenders.

Cooper Not Best
He insisted the $175,000 purchase of Walker Cooper was a wise move, even when it was pointed out that Cooper was to be late reporting from the Navy and that as a catcher he might be lost due to injury. Cooper was lost with a split finger, after reporting late, and finally Stoneham may agree with what everybody in baseball was saying at the time, viz:

The purchase of Cooper was one of the silliest buys ever made. He wasn't the best catcher in the National league even when he could play. He was even less than that when he was on the bench.

I don't know what the Chicago White Sox people were saying last spring but they undoubtedly figured they had a fine team at a time when everybody else knew they wouldn't get anywhere.

They finally fired Manager Jimmy Dykes, which is always a good trick for a rundown club to pull. It diverts attention, even if it doesn't help the club.

Hilliers Desire Labor Day Game

Hilliersville baseball team, which just concluded play in the Lawrence County loop, would like games with any first-rate club in the New Castle district.

The Pepe team is available for games on a home and home basis and would like to finish the season with a game at the Hilliersville diamond on Labor Day. The tilt would be an added attraction to the big celebration to be held there.

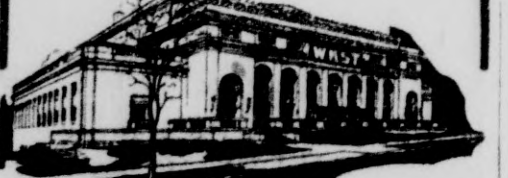

For arrangements call Albert Marshall, 8287 J-3.

Universals Pad Lead In League

Universal A. A. baseball team padded its lead in the City Baseball league Sunday by thrashing the Slovak club 9 to 1 behind the four-hit pitching of the veteran Peck Houston, who fanned six batters.

The league leaders made it 14 in a row with but one defeat the second-half to creep closer to the second-half flag, with only seven games left to play. The "Unies" had nine hits off Jurina and Balla, led by Hudson's triple and doubles by Houston and Minkton. Tony Raz-zano sprained his foot sliding into second base and will be out of the lineup for a few games.

Mead Committee Unearths
Some "Cash And Carry Patriots" Who Cleaned Up

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(INS)—The Mead committee disclosed Saturday the amazing story of how the treasury department did business during the war with contractors who had neither plants nor employees, but merely "an office with a desk and a high-sounding name."

Chief Counsel George Meader said that an investigation now nearing completion had uncovered at least 16 cases where the treasury procurement division granted contracts to "middlemen" who in turn sub-let their contracts to bona fide manufacturers at an "inordinate" profit to themselves. The contracts were let in connection with the procurement of lend-lease supplies.

Meader said the investigation indicated that about five million dollars was involved. He said the committee was especially interested in determining why the treasury department did not go business with the manufacturers themselves.

In one case Meader disclosed a contractor made almost 1,000 per cent profit on a contract for which he received $22,000 from the government, while the manufacturer who made the product for the treasury department received only about $2,300.

The manufacturer was paid 6364 cents for producing a steel pin but the government paid the contractor 34 cents per pin.

Meader said the treasury procurement dismissed three minor employees last fall when the practice was discovered. He added that the committee would decide later whether to hold public hearings on the matter.

TWILIGHT CLASSES
FOR OHIO WESLEYAN

DELAWARE, O.—(INS)—Ohio Wesleyan university students will attend classes on two shifts this fall. To accommodate as many students as possible, Registrar Allen C. Conger has announced twilight classes will be held five afternoons a week and two-hour night classes on Tuesday and Thursday.

Enrollment for the September term is expected to reach 2,000. Conger said no applications for admission have been accepted since January.

Barbara Brilliant has become engaged to Lieut. Saul Sunshine in England.

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen
Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or washed at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you just sprinkle a little FASTEETH the alkaline (iron-acid) powder on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

Argentina Last Stand
For Remittance Men

By INEZ ROBB
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 10.—Buenos Aires is the last glittering capital and Argentina the last lush land in which the remittance man, the expatriate and international café society can live like kings on a relatively small fixed income.

This is still true despite present inflation. It may eventually banish even this earthly paradise of the boulevardier who is allergic to work.

Filled with Expatriate

This beautiful capital is filled to overflowing with expatriates from all over this troubled globe who have gathered within the past decade to escape war and economic worry. Argentina today is to the expatriates of the world what the south of France was to American expatriates with a small income during the depression years at home.

It is estimated that from 25 to 50 per cent of the residents of Buenos Aires at the moment are not native Argentines. They are lotus eaters come to the last land of plenty and easy living for them as has what it takes.

An Australian beau-about-town tells me he lives like a prince on $300 a month.

He pays $80 a month for a small smart flat. A housekeeper-cook (O. shades of the servant problem in los estados unidos!) costs him another $35 a month.

Food Cheap

The housekeeper, who does the marketing, is allowed $2 a day for the purchase of food, including that from the small pleasant dinner parties the beau gives from time to time. Excellent Argentine wines are cheap, and the best Scotch whiskey—not fifths but imperial quarts—can still be had for $52 a case.

Because of the tremendous increase in the cost of good clothing, the boulevardier must watch expenditures in this department. But by and large, despite the 100 per cent increase in the cost of living since he came to Argentina eight years ago, his $300 a month enables my friend to live as he would not be able to live in New York for four times that sum.

On an income of $500 a month, a man and wife can live and entertain in Buenos Aires in a style to which not even the later day Vanderbilts are accustomed. This is a fact, not fiction.

Although Argentines groan about the servant problem, there are still plenty of servants available and at a price that is incredible to a visitor. A couple, with the husband acting as butler and general factotum, and the wife as a cordon bleu chef, command 250 pesos or $62.50 a month.

Menus Good

These are top wages for excellent couples can be had for $50 a month. And an ordinary cook, who would be regarded as a chef at home, is glad to get $30 a month. The daily food in just a comfortably well-off family here reads like a colony restaurant menu in the United States.

A parlor maid earns from $25 to $27.50 per month. Yet everyone in Buenos Aires moans over the servant problem, for within the past two years alone servant wages have almost doubled.

Argentines complain also about the quality and the growing scarcity of servants. They insist that despite the present high wages, servants are no longer well trained.

As in the United States, young girls no longer want to go into domestic service. They prefer factory work to welding the dust mop and walloping the pots and pans in another woman's kitchen. As Argentine industrialization grows, factories undoubtedly will drain off the labor supply which has made domestic servants so cheap and plentiful in the past.

Today even a moderately well-to-do household here has from three to five servants.

And as for international café society—it is down here lapping up the cream. I thought it was all in New York, but every time I go to a party, I am knee deep in counts, princes and Duchesses taking it easy in the last lap of inexpensive luxury.

Veteran Newsmen
Of Central Ohio
To Quit Work Soon

MARYSVILLE, O.—(INS)—The dean of central Ohio newspapermen is retiring after 58 years as a printer, reporter and editor.

Frank B. Courter, 78, has announced his plans to quit work and "just take it easy" after Sept. 1.

Courter, who has been Marysville correspondent of International News Service and many daily newspapers, retired as a member of the Marysville Tribune staff a few months ago but has continued to file his out-of-town correspondence.

He learned the printers' trade at the Union County Journal office in Marysville more than a half century ago. Later Courter served as a printer in several cities until the advent of the teletype machine. Then he became a reporter.

At the turn of the century, Courter was editor of the Marysville Republican for three years.

Makers of calendars are faced with 28 combinations or kinds of months and 14 different calendar years in making up the calendar.
